THE ART OF FENCING.

MR. HARDMAN, Professor of Fencing, late Sergeant-Major in Her Majesty's 80th regiment of foot, begs to state that he holds certificates of competency in the above useful art from several professors, Maitres d'Armes, as a duly qualified pupil of the accomplished Monsieur CANIS, of Parisian celebrity, and that he has been patronised in his professional capacity by many Officers of the British Army and Navy, as well as by the English nobility—ladies and gentlemen moving in the first circles of society.
Heretofore the benefit of this useful art, as well as its concomitant in promoting the graceful movements of the fair sex, in preventing round shoulders and an awkward gait, has been limited to seminaries and private families; but at the request of several respectable citizens, Mr. Hardman purposes to open public classes, available for young gentlemen confined to business, either in trade or the government offices, as well as for those intended for the military and naval profession, to whom the art of fencing is indispensable. YOUNG LADIES also of respectable grade, not permitted to attend dancing schools, may have the benefit of a morning class, twice a week, on different days from the fencing class, in suitable private apartments.
TERMS (for two lessons each week).—Gentlemen set up, taught marching and fencing, 1½ guineas per quarter. Young Ladies set up, taught to square their toes, march, and enter a room gracefully, 1 guinea per quarter.

SPLIT PEAS entirely superseded by the use of ALEXANDER'S PREPARED PEA FLOUR.

The many advantages derived from this Flour, in lieu of split peas, are sufficiently proved by the fact of its universal and increasing sale, not only in every part of the metropolis but also in every town throughout the kingdom. It is found much more economical, and spares much time and trouble, ten minutes being sufficient to make the soup. It requires no straining, as all impurities are removed by the process of preparing and dressing, thus rendering the Pea Flour entirely free from acid or flatulent properties. The flavour is acknowledged to be excellent, and the process secures its keeping for any length of time without the slightest injury.
Sold in packets—two-pence, three-pence, and six-pence each.
An experiment was made at the West London Union, in the presence of the Chairman of the Board of Guardians and others, on the 12th day of May last, to test the properties and economy of using Alexander's Prepared Pea Flour, for thickening soup, in preference to the split pea, and the result was as follows:—A large copper of soup was thickened to the substance required with Alexander's Pea Flour in FORTY MINUTES, at the cost of 7s. 8d., the flavour of which gave great satisfaction; the same quantity thickened to the substance with their split peas (contracted for) cost 9s. 3d., and requires nearly five hours boiling, with a person employed during that time continually stirring to prevent burning.
N. B.—Pea Flour prepared expressly for making Peas Pudding in ten minutes. Also, Green Pea Flour, for making and thickening soups.

SHIPS' MAILS.

Mails will be closed at the Post Office as follow:—

FOR ADELAIDE.—By the Phantom, this day, at noon.

FOR LONDON.—By the Kelso, and Agricola, (P.O.P.), this evening, at six.

FOR THE INDIAN PORTS AND ENGLAND, (OVERLAND).—By the Charlotte, to-morrow evening, at six.

The barque John Calvin, hence the 8th July, arrived at Singapore on the 14th August, and the barque Tamar, hence the 9th July, arrived on the 16th August.

The schooner Titania having completed her repairs, was launched from the Slip on Saturday afternoon, and the brig Genii will go on this day to have her bottom examined.

The Inez has on board 3000 barrels black and 60 barrels sperm oil, having been thirty-eight months out. She touched at the Sandwich Islands in November last, and reports the British American ships Athol and James Stewart as recruiting there—the former having on board 60 barrels sperm and 1950 barrels black oil; the latter 1300 barrels sperm and 1600 barrels black oil. News from California to the 12th October had been received at the Sandwich Islands. There were then about six thousand persons engaged in digging for gold. The Inez, we believe, has come on to Sydney with a view of selling her oil and proceeding to California.

The Albion has been about sixteen months out from Fairhaven, during which time she has taken 375 barrels sperm and 180 barrels black oil. She has spoken no whalers but what have already been reported.

NOTICES.

(From a Supplement to the Government Gazette.)

COLONIAL Secretary's Office, Sydney, 1st January, 1849.—His Excellency the Governor directs the republication, for the information of the departments and others concerned, of the following notices:—

PUBLIC MONEY.—Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 16th January, 1845.—With a view to prevent the recurrence of the inconvenience which has, in some cases, been found to result from public money having been placed in the Banks by persons in the service of Government to their private account; his Excellency the Governor directs it to be notified, that for the future, no public money shall, on any pretence whatever, be paid to the private account of officers at the Banks; but that, if transmitted through the Banks at all, they must be carried to a public account, wholly distinct from any private account.

PUBLICANS' LICENSES.—Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 17th July, 1845.—With reference to the 26th section of the Act of Council, 2nd Victoria, No. 18, under which the majority of the entire number of Justices residing within any district may specially recommend the granting of publicans' licenses, at any period of the year; his Excellency the Governor directs it to be pointed out, for the information of parties concerned, that great inconvenience and delay has frequently been occasioned in consequence of the certificates which are required to enable the Governor to authorise the issue of a license not being prepared in the form prescribed by the act, and that it be notified at the same time, that no license can be issued under the 26th section of the act, unless the certificates declare in the words of the act, that "some injustice or material injury of a public nature will be occasioned by delay in granting the license."

REWARDS FOR THE DISCOVERY OF ILLICIT DISTILLATION.—Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 5th May, 1846. His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to direct, that the following Rules shall be established in rewarding persons who either directly or indirectly may give information to any Inspector of Distilleries or other officer of Government, leading to the seizure of an unlicensed still in any part of the colony, or information leading to the conviction of any person engaged either as a principal or authorised agent in any licensed distillery or rectifying establishment, of any offence against the laws which exist for their regulation, or to the discovery of any practices in or connected with such establishment by which the revenue is defrauded. 1. The reward to be paid will be a sum never exceeding fifty pounds, to be determined by the Governor according to the circumstances of each case and the value of the seizure. 2. The person on whose information the seizure is made, is the one entitled to the reward, but if information be given at the same time by two or more individuals, the persons giving it will be jointly or collectively entitled to the reward. 3. If separate information be given to two ... officers at or about the same time, or if from any other cause a difficulty arise in determining the party or parties entitled to the reward, their several claims will either be decided by the Governor or by the officers of the Government to whom they may by His Excellency be referred. 4. Expenses necessarily incurred in making any seizure including remuneration to parties assisting in making it, are to be paid out of the reward in such manner as may have been previously agreed upon, or (if there has been no agreement) in such manner or in such proportions as the Governor may direct. 5. There being reason to believe that stills have occasionally been put up for the ... purpose of obtaining the rew... discovery, ...

TO ... with ... South Head Ho..., ... of which is well known to be the most healthy in the colony. For particulars apply to Mr. T. S. HALL, Surgeon Dentist, 93, King-street, corner of Bank Court. 394 may seem to have been erected for such a purpose only. 6. In every case where a seizure may be made, the report forwarded to the Government respecting it is to be accompanied with an estimate of what the whole of the property seized may be expected to sell for, as well as an estimate of what the formation of the illicit distillery may have probably cost, and its capability of doing mischief. 7. These respective estimates are, in all possible cases, to be made by a board of officers, of which the seizing officer is not to be a member. 8. If the person giving information be a prisoner of the Crown, his Excellency will take into his most favourable consideration the claim of such person for the highest indulgence which can with propriety be granted to him. 9. The rewards and indulgence held out by this notice will moreover be in addition to the share in any penalty or seizure to which the informer may be entitled by the law of the colony. 10. The regulations respecting rewards for the discovery of illicit distillation, as contained in the notices from this office dated respectively the 8th December, 1842, and 29th April, 1844, are cancelled from this date. 11. All seizures made by any Revenue Officer shall be immediately reported to the Chief Inspector of Distilleries, who shall cause the proper steps to be taken to prosecute the parties concerned, as also to realize the amount of the goods seized, and divide the same in accordance with the Act.

VACCINATION.—Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 11th January, 1847. His Excellency the Governor directs it to be notified, that a Vaccine Institution has been established in Sydney, and that Dr. Savage, the Health Officer, has been appointed to carry out the objects of the Institution. His Excellency further directs it to be notified, that Dr. Savage will be in attendance at the Immigration Barracks, Bent-street, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock on every Tuesday and Saturday to vaccinate, free of charge, such children as may be taken to him for the purpose. But as the operation itself, without any proof of its having taken effect, would be insufficient security to the public mind, his Excellency has been pleased to direct, that the sum of one shilling shall be deposited for every child vaccinated, which sum will be returned on the presentation of the child on the next vaccination day. His Excellency very strongly recommends parents and guardians to avail themselves of the means thus afforded to them of taking this necessary and proper precaution with respect to all children not already vaccinated. In order that a constant supply may be kept up throughout the colony, the Health Officer will furnish lymph to any medical practitioners in the country districts who may apply for the same. All communications with that officer on the subject of vaccination, sent through the Post Office, must be enclosed under cover to the Colonial Secretary, with the word "Vaccination" on the lower left hand corner of the envelope.

CORRESPONDENCE—PORT PHILLIP.—Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 22nd November, 1847. Inconvenience having been experienced by the government in consequence of communications being frequently received from the district of Port Phillip which have not been submitted, in the first instance, to his Honor the Superintendent of that district, his Excellency the Governor directs it to be notified, for general information, that any officer of Government, or private individual, residing in the Port Phillip District, who has occasion to address any representation to the Government, must make his Honor the Superintendent the medium of communication. Whenever this course is departed from, the representation, of whatever nature it may be, must, in every case be referred back for that officer's report.

APPLICATIONS FOR EMPLOYMENT.—Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 13th March, 1848.—His Excellency the Governor directs it to be notified, that in future all applications for employment in the public service in New South Wales, must be addressed to the Private Secretary of the Governor, otherwise they will not be attended to.

CORRESPONDENCE. — PORT PHILLIP. — Colonial Secretary's Office, Sydney, 15th March, 1848.—His Excellency the Governor directs the re-publication of the notice of 22nd November, 1847, and calls particular attention to the course it prescribes, requiring all communications to the Government from the district of Port Phillip, to be submitted through His Honor the Superintendent. In future no such communication will be attended to, unless transmitted through the proper channel.

CITY COUNCIL.

A MEETING of the City Council will be holden at the Town Hall, to-morrow, at three o'clock in the afternoon.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

1. By Alderman FISHER.—

That in terms of a resolution of this Council, of date 9th February, 1846, authorising the Council to borrow, for the purchase and laying down water pipes, a sum not to exceed £10,000, and in accordance with the recommendations contained in the report of the Finance Committee on the financial affairs of the Corporation for the year 1848, tenders be invited for the purchase of debentures to be issued by the Corporation to the extent of £3000, on the same terms as those already issued, to cover the expenditure of the Water Committee during the year 1848.

2. By Councillor PATON—

That in pursuance of the resolution passed by this Council on the 5th December last, to the following effect, viz.:—

"That all the improvements or works that are to be performed at the expense of the City during the year 1848-9, exceeding the value of £10 each, be done by contract, excepting such as may be specially ordered by the Council to be done otherwise; and that tenders for all contract work shall be addressed to the Council."

This Council do specially order that the following improvements or works be retained in the hands of the Council to be carried out under the supervision of the proper officers, and not to be performed by contract:—

1st. The working of the quarries.

2nd. The performance of masons' work with the stone excavated from the quarries, as far as dressing such stone is concerned.

3rd. The execution of minor improvements and repairs, such as broken drains, or works which may be reported by the City Surveyor of immediate necessity.

And that the Improvement Committee be authorised to hire the necessary horses and carts and men, not exceeding fifty men in all, and pay such men required for carrying out the said works.

3. By Councillor MOORE—

That this Council do appoint a competent plumber to superintend the water works of the City, in terms of a report of the Water Committee, of date 9th February last; that his salary be fixed at the rate of £120 per annum, in accordance with a resolution of Council of date 6th of March last, and that he be required to furnish two sureties in three times the amount of his salary for the due performance of his duties.

4. By Councillor JENKINS—

That tenders be invited for altering and fitting up the shed at the Hay and Corn Market, in Campbell-street, according to plan and specification to be seen in the office of the City Surveyor.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

To consider the matters standing over of which notice has been given.

The matters received by the Council on the 4th instant.

The matters received by the Council on the 12th instant.

POLICE OFFICE.—The magistrates on the roster on Saturday were Alderman Allen and Mr. Botts. The former only attended his summons. The other members of the Bench present were Captain Innes and Mr. W. A. Miles. The lists showed a total of thirteen cases, of which one a summons was postponed, one convict discharged, three drunkards, and the remaining charges comprising the free list. A case of alleged theft of a gown, and other articles of wearing apparel, committed about four months ago, in consequence of the proof being doubtful, was dismissed. The cases of two females for protection were disposed of by the first, a very aged woman, being sent to the Asylum; and as the second, a woman, Tanner, who had attempted to drown herself on the previous day at Terry Hughes's dam, was unable to leave the Infirmary, a remand was directed. The magistrates summoned for to-day, are Alderman Fisher and Mr. Gilchrist.

THE COLONIAL ARCHITECT'S OFFICE.—A few weeks after the late stupendous repairs had been effected at the Police Office, we visited that delightful morning resort of belligerent ladies, and the unemployed idle of Sydney. We were surprised at the change there—it appeared a perfect Elysium to our comparative memory,—no dust, no rain, no horrid rheumatic draughts. Such felicity was too great to last: a few months flew by, and again the Police Office looked, one day, like a dismal fashionable bathing house,—another, a devoted hearse caught in a brickfielder. Such it has continued for some succeeding months, but on Thursday last, as we entered the yard, we were startled from our propriety by seeing the apparition of a ladder placed against the building. We approached, and found that what we fancied to have been an optical delusion, was a substantial reality. Rapt in admiration at the prompt attention to the public convenience, we remained gazing gratefully at the ladder for a considerable time, looking upon it as a monument of the patriotic energy of our colonial institutions. However, on that day we remarked nothing further, but still as we cast our last lingering glance at the ladder, we could not but say that it seemed the stepping stone to improvement, and that "things official" were at last looking up. We repaired to the Court the next morning, and not only was the ladder there, but throughout the business, which lasted from 9 till 1, we observed the countenance of a highly intelligent youth — a professional shingler — looking through the skylight, and apparently deeply interested in the discursive dialogues between the venerable inspector of nuisances and refractory cabmen. "Come, come," said we to ourselves, "this looks like business; it's an even wager that on Tuesday that boy will begin to work." On enquiring subsequently we understood he was waiting for shingles. It is an extraordinary fact that although the Police and Supreme Courts have been known to have lucid intervals, no period of three months has elapsed within the memory of "the oldest inhabitant" in which they have not been remarked for wanting a shingle. Whilst on the subject of this office, we will take the opportunity of correcting an extraordinary mistake which crept into our columns some time back. About nine months ago we stated that the new Museum would be ready for the reception of specimens in about three months. For three months read three years.

SPECIAL LICENSING MEETING.—It will be recollected that at the late special licensing sessions, the opinion was broached that provided the publicans got the certificate for their license signed by the majority of the qualified Justices, it was immaterial whether or no the Magistrates had done so by meeting in sessions, or the signatures been given by them at their private residences; and it was added, that there was a strong legal opinion supporting this view of the matter. In consequence of this some one or more of the applicants got their certificates signed in the manner pointed out, and they were in due course forwarded to the proper quarter of the government, for the licenses to be thereon issued. The Attorney-General, however, has held that the certificates were illegal documents, and could not be signed in the manner they were, consequently the licenses cannot issue.

THE UNDERBANK ESTATE.—This estate, consisting of 8320 acres of land, with farm buildings, 3700 head of cattle, and 40 horses, which formed the first lot in the Bank of Australia partition, was won by the holder of ticket No. 3374, who turns out to be Angus M'Donald, a tenant on the Bolwarra Estate, near Maitland. He was a very poor man, with eight children, and was recently a servant to Mr. Andrew Lang.

THE INSPECTOR OF NUISANCES—HIS CLIENTS AND ANNOYANCES.—In the course of some cab prosecutions on Friday, Mr. Stubbs addressed the bench, complaining of the manner in which the performance of his duty was obstructed by parties not appearing as witnesses to support the cases they called on him to prosecute. Again, parties, after all the trouble of drawing and filing informations had been gone through, seeking by all possible means to get them withdrawn without the facts of the case, or the nature of the offence, being publicly made known. These practices Alderman Egan, who was the sitting magistrate, very properly animadverted upon, and directed that a case which had given rise to Mr. Stubbs's observations should be postponed until Tuesday.

INSANITY.—There were two parties brought before the Police Court on Saturday, in consequence of their being in so insane a state of mind that well grounded apprehensions were entertained that acts of violence would be committed by them. One was a female of the name of Myers, the wife of a tradesman resident in Pitt-street, the other a man named Williams, living in Brougham-place. The bearing of both before the Court left no doubt of their state of mind. Both were remanded to the Gaol, with a view to the necessary medical evidence for their reception into the Lunatic Asylum being taken.

PETTY SESSIONS, BALRANALD.—His Excellency the Governor has appointed Balranald, in the Lower Darling District, to be a place for the holding of Courts of Petty Sessions. Mr. Jasper Creagh has been appointed to be the Clerk of Petty Sessions; and Mr. John White to be Chief Constable.

CLOTHES ROBBERY. — Some time between midnight on Friday and five o'clock on Saturday morning, a quantity of wearing apparel was stolen from out of the yard of a female named Salamon in Sussex-street. The articles consisted chiefly of baby and children's linen, shirts, frocks, and table cloths. Seeing that robberies of this description are almost of daily occurrence, it is really extraordinary how people will persist in that carelessness, which if it does not absolutely afford temptation, at least provides the opportunity of thieving.

EXTENSIVE SALE OF ENGRAVINGS.—Admirers of the Fine Arts, and the public generally, are reminded, that the valuable collection of engravings which have been exhibiting at the rooms of Mr. George A. Lloyd, will be submitted to unreserved sale by auction, this morning, commencing at eleven o'clock precisely.—Communicated.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

"PREVENTION BETTER THAN CURE."

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—The seasonableness of the occasion which may be selected to invite public attention to any proposal for the promotion of the public welfare, ensures a probability of success far greater than can be desired from the zeal and ability of the advocate, or even from the magnitude of the benefit to be conferred. Under the influence of this conviction, I eagerly avail myself of the fitting opportunity which circumstances has created, to offer a few suggestions on a topic to which my own observation has been directed with deeper and deeper interest.

Amidst the convulsions which have overthrown dynasties, and shaken nations to their foundations, there has still been a sensible and steady advance in scientific legislation. In the United Kingdom, which we hail as our fatherland, neither the intricacy of its foreign relations, nor the alarms of domestic treason, have availed to abate the desire of the government to a successful perseverance in establishing a sound system of sanitary laws; whilst (with the exception of such contemptible hostility as the virulence of political party could generate) the entire people received with grateful satisfaction every well considered and properly constituted measure, calculated to produce that result, and improve the public health in their respective towns. In Her Majesty's speech at the prorogation of Parliament, she expressed her congratulations at the passing of "The Health of Towns' Bill." Nor have the citizens of Sydney been less eager for the amelioration of their sanitary condition, and have given abundant proof of the interest they take in every effort to accomplish that important object. Whilst at this very present juncture, no less than for some time previous, the profession to which I have the honour to belong, sympathizing with the suffering patients, and the afflicted and bereaved families, upon whom they have been called upon to attend, have more especial cause to lament that unless some more effective sanitary measures are adopted than have hitherto been proposed, there can be no hope of the diminished prevalence of contagious, infectious, and fatal disease.

As it appears to me, and to those with whom I have conferred on the subject, in whatever aspect the sanitary condition of Sydney is viewed, there is at present nothing consolatory to the public feeling and interests to be discerned. We look in vain for any body of scientific and professional men organized to guide and direct judicious sanitary measures. Where is the executive body, furnished with the requisite means, or with adequate legal power secured to effect the important objects which wisdom would suggest? There is to be found, indeed, an officer of health, and the Sydney Corporation armed with authority, bearing on these points, but judging from the past, what is to be expected for the future? The grand defect to be supplied is by such an act of local legislation, as the condition of this comparatively young community presents every invitation to adopt. In the mother country no new structure of beneficence can be erected without the previous reluctant demolition of the old. No political change can be effected without the regrets of the would-be conservators of "the goodly usage of the antique time." The sanitary rules, at length made the law of the land, had to contend with the prejudices against the abuse of Executive power; and the dogmas about "Centralization" at one time threatened the destruction of Lord Morpeth's hopes as to his "Health of Towns Bill." But here happily none of these things trouble us. "A Sydney Health of Towns Bill"—and the constitution of a Board of Health to carry out its provisions might be made a measure of good unmingled with as little ill as the imperfection of even the wisest human legislation would allow.

It is not in this single notice that the subject can be treated of in a manner proportionate to its importance. It may be briefly stated for the information of those who are not previously apprised of the facts, that in the quarterly tables of health and mortality published by the Registrar-General in England, it appears that if the chance of a child's dying in the country districts under fifteen years of age, be represented by one, the chance that a child will die in the large towns in the same time, may be represented by more than two. It is also shown that the chance of dying among men above thirty-five in the towns, is to that in the country as three to two—while it is further remarked that the liability to suffer from epidemic diseases between the towns and the country exists in a still greater proportion.

In reference to this city, the reflecting portion of the community have, as already mentioned, manifested such deep interest in sanitary measures, that it would be wholly needless for me to expatiate upon the scenes of filth, and noxious exhalations, the prolific sources of disease, with which its various localities abound; scenes many of them most offensive to the senses, and revolting to the sympathies of our nature to behold.

The purport of this communication is not to dilate upon the enormity of the existing evil, to invite public attention to the only effectual remedy to be provided, namely, an adequate enactment from our local legislature, and the institution of a competent commission to carry the law into effect. It is not within the scope of my ability, nor the line of my duty, to form even the frame work of such a bill as I desire to see enacted. Such an office must be confided either to the Law Officers of the Crown, of some other members of the legal profession, who have the honour of a seat in the Legislative Council; it is, however, within my province to offer a few suggestions relative to such clauses as experience and reason have taught me immediately to affect the health of the inhabitants.

The whole of the surface cleaning, such as cleansing the streets, removing dust, garbish, &c.,—places of deposit for the same—all offensive drains and ditches should be subjected to stringent regulations; as also the drainage of individual houses, and the erection of privies. The management of slaughtering-houses, factories, butchers' shambles, together with the conduct of common lodging houses, and the sites of public washing, should be placed under the control of the proposed Board of Health, who should be empowered to establish regulations, under the power of by-laws, and to enforce them by the agency of inspectors, or some such description of officers.

Without infringing upon the authority of any existing corporate body or individual and without any serious amount of expense except where it ought to be sustained by the public delinquent whoever he may be, a properly constituted measure having the effect of a stringent law, would, there can be no doubt, prove to be conducive to the moral and social improvement of the inhabitants of this city, as well as check the inroads of disease and contamination amongst its rapidly increasing population.

I remain, gentlemen,
Your very obedient servant,
M. D.

ENGLISH EXTRACTS.

FASHIONS FOR SEPTEMBER.

(From Le Follet, Journal du Grande Monde, &c.)

WHITE muslin dresses, with three or four deep flounces scolloped at the edge, or seven or eight tucks, are much worn. These dresses are always made high, with large Russian sleeves, drawn in at the cuffs, or short sleeves, with Russian leather gloves, embroidered in black and trimmed with a narrow ruche of black lace, or edged with velvet and fastened with a bow at the side, are much in fashion. All dresses are made sufficiently short in front to show the fancy stockings and shoes. This is a great advantage to a pretty summer toilette, and gives a lightness and elegance to the general appearance. Silk stockings are generally adopted by ladies of taste, and, indeed, add much to the richness of the dress. With these white dresses large white tarlatane shawls, with deep fringes, or some of the many thousand mantelets of fancy silks, either blue, rose-coloured, lilac, green, &c., more or less ornamented with trimmings of the same material or black lace, are worn. Small velvet mantelets, black, green, or blue, lined with white silk and trimmed with broad braid on the edge, are in request for evening costume as an elegant preventive against the air of the autumn evenings. These mantelets, or kind of small paletot-sac, have the sleeves half-long and loose, so as to avoid the appearance of a winter-dress or disarranging the under dress.

Bonnets have not altered: they are yet in shape round in the front and closing at the chin, with the exception of some full dress bonnets, which are of the Pamela form, and worn by some pretty women, whose face this shape sets off to advantage. Straw bonnets are trimmed with flowers of the most simple character; a bouquet is fastened on the side without any air of pretension. Waterlilies, branches of ivy, or bouquets of corn-flowers, are worn on bonnets by the water side.

That which is sure to please, admired by all, and can be used upon all articles of a lady's toilette—is lace. Indeed, there is scarcely any pretty costume but is indebted to this elegant trimming, nor does a lady feel perfectly distingué without the aid of this light and graceful ornament. Full dress, promenade, and even morning costumes are trimmed with it, and the marriage corbeilles display a profusion of this useful as well as recherché article. We must not omit to mention the beautiful mantilles sévillanes, as they are suitable for all seasons and all modes, adapted to every taste, and should form a part of every lady's toilette. The marriage corbeille is not complete without this mantille, which unites the size of the shawl with the grace of the scarf and the coquetry of the veil, and is equally suitable for either of these graceful appendages to the toilette.

There are some very charming and new patterns in silks for redingotes and déjeuner dresses of muslin, and embroidered organdies, with flounces, some embroidered in colours, others in white, with lace intermixed, are much sought for. For morning promenade robes of coutil, foulard, toile de Norwege, or poil de chevre, embroidered in crochet, or soutaches in different shades, are worn.

To give the dresses of barège a richer and heavier appearance, they are lined with a bright pink or cerise gauze or muslin. We have seen some of this description, the barèges being a white ground in Turkish designs, pompadour, or in stripes. This lining, independent of the consistency it gives to the dress, produces a soft and warming effect, which is very pretty.

Among the dresses preparing to be worn at Baden we saw some charming redingotes in lilac taffetas, blue de France, and English green, trimmed with black lace placed en revers upon the front of the skirt and either side of the body, which is open, allowing a piece of the silk to be seen instead of the chemisette, and trimmed with lace in rows across the front. The half-long sleeves, which are loose, are trimmed with three narrow laces falling over the arm. A guimpe and under sleeves, in large puffs of plain white tulle, give to this toilette an appearance half negligé, and in good taste; between the two laces on the skirt bows of ribbon, the shade of the dress, forming four coques, separated by small buckles of marquisite or burnished gold. The shoes of the same shade as the dress are a mark of good taste in the wearer.

Redingotes of white batiste with a double narrow trimming to match, gathered upon the front. The bottom of the skirt is trimmed en suite. The same trimming is placed round the small pelerine, and the bottom of the sleeves, which are half short. A marmotte of lace on a small cap of Valenciennes, with bows of rose-coloured ribbon, and slippers of moire, trimmed with a ruching of pink ribbon, and rosettes upon the front, complete this toilette. Upon white organdie robes narrow embroideries of straw are good taste.

PROGRESS OF AMERICA.

(From the Times, September 8.)

THE policy pursued by the government of the United States with regard to territorial aggrandisement is particularly deserving of attention. Prussia, in her vital struggles through the middle of the last century, was not more desperately bent upon consolidation and enlargement than is America at present, and a state which still retains in its original possessions sufficient unoccupied land to maintain double the amount of its population, is impressing into its service all the expedients of annexation, conquest, and purchase, with as much determination and energy as if it were actually grasping in those extremities of political existence which necessitated the seizure of Silesia, and almost palliated the first partition of Poland. This policy may be, perhaps, to some extent, the manifestation of that high national purpose occasionally proclaimed by American statesmen, of reducing the uttermost parts of the continent under their rule upon the faith and sanction of scriptural donations; or it may be simply the natural development of ambition and activity in a thriving, uncontrolled, and unquiet people. But with either or both of these motives we have no doubt there is compounded, on the part of forecasting statesmen, a strong desire to multiply and extend as far as possible those outlets for discontent and restlessness which are the very lungs of the American body politic, and to postpone to the remotest practicable period that moment when the rushing stream of expansive population must at length be checked, and with a sudden and terrible recoil. What emigration is, or ought to be, to Great Britain, migration is to the United States. Their colonies are in their western provinces. All opinions concur in stating, that the facilities afforded by the wilderness of the far-west to the spirit of adventure or change have proved the salvation of the Government, and have been the chief means of preserving intact for seventy years a constitution which, by the side of more recent incarnations of democracy, seems to wear not a few of the features of a steady and consolidated monarchy.

The efforts of the American Government to perpetuate the existence and secure the free action of this political safety-valve have been commensurate, in success not less than in spirit, with the necessities of the case. Taken with the previously vacant territories of the United States proper, we may say that the annexation of Texas, the acquisitions from Mexico and the awards in Oregon, have placed at the disposal of the authorities at Washington a tract of land at least twice as spacious as the whole presently inhabited portion of their possessions. In fact, taking the whole breadth of the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific, between the 50th and 30th parallels, as representing the present dominions of the United States of America, it would be substantially correct to say that the whole space west of the Missouri, or, in other words, two-thirds of the entire territory, is yet untenanted, and lies in reserve for the caprices or necessities of generations to come. It is particularly instructive to observe with what summary and business-like promptitude every acre of this accumulated property is secured in the Government stores, and stamped, as it were, with the national mark, for the undetermined purposes of the nation. Already that coast, to the capabilities of which we seem to pay such little heed has been brought within call of Washington, and the ports of the Pacific will be kept well in hand by a cabinet sitting on the shores of the opposite ocean. A line of mail steamers is forthwith to run between New York and New Orleans; at New Orleans it will join a second line from that Port to Chagres, on the Isthmus of Panama; from the Isthmus a third line of steamers will traverse the Pacific to and from the Columbia River. The ink of the treaties is scarcely dry, and yet in January next the direct and regular communication between New York and Oregon will be such as, at this time last year, had not been established between London and Ascension. The Americans want no sharesmen in their operations. The terms of the convention left certain possessory rights to the Hudson's Bay Company within the frontier assigned to the United States. These rights the States are anxious to purchase immediately, and it is probable that the President, without waiting for the re-assembling of Congress, will negotiate during the recess, at no illiberal valuation, his bargain for the whole of these possessions. How much of the price paid for Louisiana and California would the Government of Washington give for an island which seems to have gone begging for twelve months in London?

There is this peculiar interest attached to these transactions on the American continent,—that we there see in actual operation the course of those events of which in our own world we can only read. We may look at the North America of 1848, as at the Northern Europe of a thousand years before, and may watch with our own eyes the territorial settlement of a continent. There are the Spaniards of the Isthmus, the rival Saxons in the centre, the Slavonians in the north-western angle, and a powerful element of Celts interspersed. We may imagine a new race of Franks establishing itself in a Transatlantic Gaul, a new colony of slaves struggling up to a new Pomerania, or a new swarm of Huns settling upon a new Danube. We have civilized instead of barbarous races to deal with, and therein consists the whole difference. With this variation we may fix our speculative eyes upon a continent of which the distribution and occupation is as uncertain and fortuitous as that of Europe in the days of Charlemagne. There may be one empire or two, of one or two races, or there may be kingdoms or republics innumerable. Nobody can yet calculate the members of the American family when the partition and tenancy of the continent shall be at length complete.

The interest felt in such a prospect as this is not diminished by the consideration of the extent to which our own national credit is involved. Over half of this vast territory we have at least manorial rights, and it is indeed fitting that the institutions of the company to which we delegate so important a tenancy should be introduced to general notice. It should not be overlooked that our remaining portion in these possessions is mainly deficient in those very advantages which we have recently proposed to bargain away. The immense tract of British North America has on the Pacific but a very inadequate proportion of sea-board. The Russian territories straggle half-way down our western coast from the north, and south of the Columbia River all will soon be subject to American rule. Vancouver's Island is not only the most promising harbour and position in these parts, but it is literally nearly one-half of the western seaboard of our whole dominion. And yet this is the settlement on which we set so little store!

THE SMALL AGENTS OF GREAT MISCHIEFS.—The Irish rebel chiefs are now the laughing-stock of the world: but, paradoxical as it may appear, we should have better hopes of the peace of the country if the characters of the men who have so misled a portion of the people were less paltry and contemptible. There is this satisfaction in having to do with potent agents of great mischiefs, that when they are crushed successors of equal abilities are not to be found, and the bad cause is abandoned in despair for want of leaders. The reasoning in such cases is, the boldest and best qualified chiefs have done their best and failed, and who can hope to succeed after them; for who can surpass them in skill, energy and daring, in prudence to plan and combine, and in resource to repair disasters? But this discouraging argument has no application to the present case. There are hundreds of vain O'Brien's, braggart Meagher's, and ruffian Lalors in Ireland—hundreds of these asses in lion's skin; and it is far from assuring to reflect that creatures of this puny sort are able to trouble the country, and to put the Government on its defence, and the public to the expense of an army superior in force to that which made head in Spain against all the powers of Napoleon. The misfortune of a skimmilk rebellion, such as we have witnessed, is, that the material for its repetition is so easy, "easy as lying." There is needful for its no high courage, no indomitable will, no genius for strategy, no one great quality of leadership—nothing but ranting and romancing, bouncing and blustering. As is said in common parlance, "any fool could have done it,"—and how many fools are there left equal to the same sorry performance? The mountain in labour is good for fable; but if a mouse could really make an appalling roaring in a mountain, it would not be pleasant to the neighbourhood to reflect that mice could never be wanting for the continuance of the clamorous nuisance. There is generally something jarring and dissatisfactory in the disproportionment of cause and effect. If we are to be troubled and disturbed, it is consoling that the agent equal to the molestation should not be of ordinary magnitude, nor of inferior power, for in that consists the security against the frequency of such annoyance, that the authors must possess qualities and attributes which are rare. On the other hand, it is most most mortifying to find that the weakest of creatures in every respect except fanfaronade have yet been able to create alarm, to cause vast injury thereby to the country, and most inconvenient expense to the public. These considerations makes us lament that the Irish rebels prove such wretched powder-puffs; and it seems to us that it were almost desirable to plump them out into some some show of manly proportions, if the things could be done; but they have so ridiculously figured, that it is utterly impossible. The American reproach is fatally applicable to them "they are cruel small." It is doubly cruel to the country, that, being so small, they have cost it so much in alarm and in reducing their insignificance to practical proof. How large loomed the treason in the bubble, and what a wretched spot of work is it in the suds out of which it was blown! Still the vexation is in the reflection that the elements are so common, and level, as the children's books say to the meanest capacity.—Examiner.

A dinner at Lovegrove's, Blackwall, was given on Saturday by the friends of Mr. John Reynolds, to celebrate the successful defence of his return for Dublin. Lord Dudley Stuart presided, and some dozen other members of the House of Commons were present. Mr. Reynolds's speech in returning thanks embodied some curious election statistics. The scrutiny on the petition against him lasted thirteen weeks; at the end of the twelfth week ninety voters were struck off; the expense upon his part being £7000, while upon the part of his opponents it was probably £10,000. Had not the defence been managed economically and with great talent, the cost would have been £20,000. But it was a singular fact in the statistics of elections, that to remove ninety voters it should be necessary to expend £17,000, when the amount of taxes due by the said voters was not quite £50. Mr. Reynolds dwelt on the anomalous character of a law which provided that the election should end in one day and yet allowed a scrutiny to last a year. Although only three months before the Committee, he was nine months in preparing for his defence; having been compelled, from the hour of his return until the moment of trial, to employ from forty to sixty clerks to go to the taxing-offices to ascertain whether those who voted both for and against him were in arrear at the time they voted.

The Freeman's Journal of the 6th September, publishes a speech purporting to have been delivered by Lord Clarendon to a deputation who urged upon him the views of Mr. Beazley, a Tipperary gentleman, desirous of "converting poor-rate into capital." Lord Clarendon is represented as speaking with severity of the waste, plunder, jobbing, and misapplication of funds in Ireland. Landlords had applied for aid, and had obtained immense sums, for the alleged purpose of improving their lands and affording employment; neither of which they did. The Boards of Guardians, too, had been inefficient, and had allowed the most flagitious abuses to spring up. "Thus, for instance," says the journal "within the last few days the Government had ascertained, that, in one district there were some hundreds more persons chargeable for out-door relief than the whole numerical population of the district. His Excellency, we understand, expressed his marked reprehension of this state of things, and observed how difficult it was to meet the necessities of the country or advance its material prosperity, when, instead of actual and sincere co-operation from those most interested, there was, generally speaking, so much to censure in their proceedings."

HEROIC LOVE.—"Breathes there a wretch so base as to injure you, my dearest, by word or action? Tell me, and by thine heart, as pure as heaven, I swear never to rest till I've redressed thy wrongs! Is an awful mystery locked up in thy bosom that I must know? Tell me the secret, and by the ringlets of thy hair I'll swear never to reveal it, though the blackest torments rack me! Pour out thy soul; tell me what lies heavy in thy breast!" She blushed, she placed her fair hands across her bosom, looked languidly in her lover's face, and softly—like the low breath of an expiring saint—she thus confessed: "'Tis them green apples, Thomas!"

BIRTH.

At her residence, Miller's Point, on Sunday, 7th instant, Mrs. G. Talbot, of a daughter.

DIED.

On the 6th January, at her residence, Sussex-street, the wife of Mr. Thomas Hyndes, aged sixty-nine years.

On the 6th January, 1849, John Michael Jones, age seven years.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg leave through the medium of your widely circulated Journal to expose what I, and I am sure the public generally, must consider to be a gross direliction of duty in the parties in power, and also a great expense, inconvenience, and disappointment to me, and others like me. On or about the 12th December, 1848, I, pursuant to advertisement, in common with others, tendered for the tolls, at the Cook's River Road, for the year 1849. My tender was at that time too low, but another party tendered for £700, and offered good security, it was, however, given to the then and present lessee for £680, being £20 less than the highest Tender, and the only reason that could be got for this extraordinary proceeding was, that the Trustees did not wish to take it from the present lessee!!! On the 22nd December, 1848, I received a circular in common with others, from Mr. Knapp, the Secretary to the Trustees, calling for new tenders, in consequence of an additional bar being about to be erected south of St. Peter's Church. I did accordingly again tender for £740, and to my great surprise was informed that it was given to the then and present lessee for £730, being £10 less than my tender, and on the same ground as before, namely, not wishing to disturb the party in possession!!! Now what reason or ground the Trustees can have for this mode of proceeding, I cannot imagine. My sureties were good, (one of them, indeed, is surety for the present lessee), and my money was ready at any time. The terms of the tenders, as I understood, were to give it to the highest bidder, and as I was the highest bidder on the last occasion, I naturally conceived it ought to have been mine. The gentlemen appointed Trustees, are, I believe, so done by the inhabitants of the Cook's River District generally, and so should be supposed to attend to the interest of their constituents, but this I cannot imagine to be the case in these two instances, the first being a loss of £20 to the public, and the last of £10. I can, if necessary, verify these matters, but I leave the case now to the consideration of the public, always wishing to know, if you can inform me, how I am to be remunerated for my expense and loss of time, in this extraordinary matter. It appears to me to be all a farce to advertise for tenders, when the Trustees, for some reason best known to themselves, seem disposed to keep the tolls in the hands of one and the same person; public competition appears to me to be thus set at defiance, and therefore useless. I should have written this letter sooner, but was prevented by sickness.

I am, Gentlemen, your obedient servant,
JOSEPH SMART.

MONDAY, JANUARY 29.
HIGHLY VALUABLE PROPERTY AT KANGAROO POINT, BRISBANE,

WITH BUILDINGS THEREON.

MR. SAMUEL LYONS will sell by auction, at his Mart, on MONDAY, JANUARY 29,
At eleven o'clock,

An allotment of land, with buildings thereon, at Kangaroo Point, Brisbane, described as follows:—

All that piece or parcel of land, at Kangaroo Point, at Brisbane, containing 1 rood and 15 perches: bounded on the north by the high road; on the south by property of Edward Lord, Esq.; on the east by Holman-street; and on the west by land of William Holman Berry; and also all that brick messuage or tenement now erecting and building upon the said piece or parcel of land. The building erected is intended for an inn, and being the largest house in Brisbane, for which the proprietor was lately offered £250 a year rent. About £150 will be required to complete the building.

And also all that other piece or parcel of Land, situate at Kangaroo Point, containing 1 rood 19¼ perches, bounded on the north by a cross road or street; on the west by property of Edward Lord, Esq.; on the east by Holman-street; and on the south by the River Brisbane.

And also, that Messuage or Tenement lately built thereon, and now used as an inn, known by the name and style of the brick-nogged in front. The wings and rest of the house brick-built, containing ten rooms, and let at present to Mr. Stevens, at £40 per year, with the outbuildings, yards, gardens, and appurtenances to the same belonging, both formerly in the occupation of William Holman Berry.

All that piece or parcel of Land, situate at Kangaroo Point, being Lot 27 of Sir Evan Mackenzie's Land put up to auction, being a frontage of 45 feet to the Government Reserve by 100 feet in depth, being a portion of suburban allotment No. 12 at Kangaroo Point aforesaid. Granted by the Crown to John Petrie and William Holman Berry.

On this allotment is erected a cottage.
Terms at sale.
Plan on view at the Mart.

☞ For particulars of Title apply to Messrs. Dunsmure and Longmore, Solicitors, Bligh-street, Sydney. 10239

POOR MAN'S BAZAAR,

223, PITT-STREET,
ESTABLISHED 1848.

TARMONS, WOOLLOOMOOLOO,

THAT SPACIOUS MANSION,
(Late the Residence of Sir Maurice O'Connell deceased,)
WITH ALL ITS OUT-BUILDINGS,
ITS BEAUTIFUL GARDEN AND ADJACENT LAND;
THE WHOLE OCCUPYING THE MOST CHARMING POSITION, AND COMMANDING THE MOST ENCHANTING SCENERY TO BE MET WITH IN OUR DELIGHTFUL ENVIRONS.
MR. MORT
Has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street,
TO-MORROW, TUESDAY, JANUARY 9,
At 12 o'clock,
WITHOUT ANY RESERVE,

THE above really magnificent PROPERTY!

Mr. Mort is authorised to divide this Estate into TWO LOTS.

Making the Mansion and out-houses, and that portion of the garden east of Victoria-street, one lot (in all occupying ONE ACRE AND A HALF); and the land running down to Woolloomooloo Bay from the western boundary of Victoria-street (which, when filled up to low water mark will comprise about FIVE ACRES), the other lot. The property will, however, in the first instance, be put up in one lot, should such be the wish of intending purchasers on the day of sale.

In lieu of a newspaper description of this Estate Mr. Mort begs to refer purchasers to the property itself. It is within a few minutes' walk of St. James's, and the visit will well repay the walk. There is a plan at the Rooms of the Auctioneer, where every information may be obtained.

☞ A few years ago Sir Maurice O'Connell gave SIX THOUSAND GUINEAS for "Tarmons," since which time it has been much improved, whilst the business parts of the City have been gradually creeping towards our eastern "west-end," until at length they have embraced it, thereby trebling the value not only of the intervening lands, but of this and its fellow properties likewise.

 A large portion of the purchase-money may remain upon mortgage of the property.

N.B.—If this property were subdivided, about 1400 feet of frontage might be sold with large depths, without interfering in the least with the residence and out-houses. It is intersected by Victoria, Brougham, and Dowling-streets, besides having a splendid frontage to Woolloomooloo Bay. 473
